

Reverend Richard W. Hill, M.Div., D.Min.

Preaching and teaching God's Word the goal of understanding and serving His people have long been passions for Dr. Hill. Known for making God's Word plain, his love for expository preaching serves him well in these passions.

For seven-plus years, Dr. Hill served as Pastor at the Prince of Peace Missionary Baptist Church in Syracuse, New York. For 11 years prior to that, he served as Chaplain at Syracuse University. He also served as Youth Pastor at the Tucker Missionary Baptist Church in Syracuse for four years. These opportunities allowed him to design and develop ministries, grow young people into church leaders and serve the needs of the church and the community.

A native of Syracuse, New York currently living in Charlotte, North Carolina, Dr. Hill received Bachelor of Science degree in Mathematics Education from Oswego State University. He also received his Master of Divinity degree from Colgate Rochester Crozer Divinity School. He went on to receive his Doctor of Ministry degree in Leadership from Ashland Theological Seminary in Ashland, Ohio. He also holds certificates from Syracuse University and the University of Connecticut. While the education is helpful, he fully relies on the Holy Spirit to inspire his preaching, guide his teaching and support his service to God's people.

His community service often overlaps with his ministry. Dr. Hill has developed programs to help young folks prepare for college, to provide ready-for-work training, to provide math tutoring and offer healthy living supports for more seasoned saints.

In his free time, Dr. Hill enjoys riding his Harley Davidson which has taken him to 49 out of 50 of these United States. He has one daughter Lydia, of whom he is very proud. She is in her final semester at the Howard University School of Business and will graduate this May.
